Bug Fixes If you've read my other reviews, you'll know that I find these reviews to be an incredibly useful resource in my life. Thank you to the author for this wonderful tool. Rating:Nigel Farage is to stand as an independent MEP for Ukip in the European elections in May. Mr Farage will seek a seat for Ukip in the south-west of England, where the election is being held in three months. In a statement Ukip said he would be standing in European elections for "the first time in more than a decade" and "as an independent candidate of no party". Mr Farage first came to the European Parliament in 1999, when he was elected as a Conservative MEP. He switched to UKIP in 2005, before becoming leader in 2009. He became the leader of the UK Independence Party in October 2011. Mr Farage's resignation from UKIP in February followed a row over whether he should remain a MEP if he returned to the UK from his international work.Last week an Islamic group called the Council on American-Islamic Relations (CAIR), a US-based organisation that campaigns for Islamisation, denounced the US authorities and threatened a legal action in relation to the case of two men from London, David Ali Haroun and Omar Deghayes, who were arrested for allegedly being part of a plan to attack New York with a rocket propelled grenade and a molotov cocktail. "We will take legal action against this and we will consider all of our options from civil action, to criminal and we will see what the right action is in fighting such barbarity that is aimed against innocent people," said CAIR North America Communications Director, Ibrahim Hooper. The media has described the case of Omar Deghayes and David Ali Haroun as a terrorist plot, even though there is no proof of this. Many sceptics and

A last-minute fix might be in your future as well: Google has just released a new version of the Google Docs for Android app. Among other things, the new app brings back the ICS-style navigation bar and a full-screen mode, in addition to fixing some other bugs from earlier versions. When I wrote in this post back in April that Google Docs for Android was the most important Android app, I might have been a bit premature. Last week's security update had introduced Google's antiquated hamburger menu, and now the Google Docs app brings it back as a way to get to the three-pane view.... If you want to use the hamburger menu, all you have to do is tap the little up arrow triangle in the upper-right corner of the navigation bar. "But wait," you say, "that's not exactly what I was expecting! What's the matter with the old menu with the buttons on either side of it? I was just using that before. ..." Well, you're not the only one. Here are some other things the new app does: • Some of the menus have been switched around. • You can now add a comment to documents and comments at the bottom of the page. • You can now search for documents by file name or by keyword. • A glitch with printing is gone as well. • If you're missing the fast scroll, you should be able to get it back again. The most recent security update included a new login screen, so you'll need to sign in again. If you're upgrading from an older version, you might be asking, "Why am I seeing a new login screen?" Answer: It's because the

Colorize your notes with Google Keep's new extensions! This extension allows you to color the labels on notes, and set all notes by default to the color you choose. You can view all your notes, and not just the ones you have created and created the labels for! Simply click the tab you would like to view on, then you can either create a new note or click on a label to change the color on an existing note. Google Keep Case Study Businesses and government organizations love the versatility of Google Keep. Everyone from sales teams and marketers, to HR professionals and designers, use Google Keep to keep track of their work and collaborate. As long as you can use Google Drive, Google Keep is a great way to organize and maintain your notes from anywhere. Google Keep Case Study The most basic way to add a note in Google Keep is to simply type the note and hit "Enter." You can immediately add tags to note such as "Need to call someone" or "Did you call that number I wrote down?" You can also create multipage and even sticky notes. Google Keep Case Study Incorporating tools such as Hangouts, Google Docs and Google Slides into Google Keep is easy. Even if you work in a completely different environment (cubicle, coffee shop, home, etc.) Google Keep is ready to integrate your work and collaboration with others. With Google Keep you can collaborate with your team members or friends in real time, host calls on the fly, share documents and more. Google Keep Case Study Of course, Google Keep integrates with most of Google's apps. You can now add a location to a note. A note can be added to an email, document, calendar, list and even a webpage. Add a note to yourself in Google Keep and it will be added to the corresponding Google Drive file. Google Keep Case Study Google Keep is a powerful tool for almost anyone. Google Keep gives you access to all of your knowledge from the desktop, on
