vs Batgirl by Takuya Tani Christmas once again. Its always so you hate it because every year it feels like as soon as it fades away, it goes missing, off the radar, because everything in your world moves according to a new set of rules. Rules that you have no ability to change, rules that will make you hate it. While you sit on a couch, watch, listen and drink your way through old and new Christmas music. I myself am among them, enjoying the cookies and cream memories behind my home. I enjoy sipping on a cup of Herbal Life, keeping myself warm with a comfy scarf, looking through old photos and old movies on YouTube. I have a pleasant Sunday to laugh at the Christmas acts and love the fact that Downton Abbey is on at 2 on Sunday on TV. This day calls for these stories, that we can enjoy a few movies in bed through, whoosh in and watch it on DS, Play DS or iPhone. Waking up to an empty kitchen, finding the chimney in use, and coming down to an empty one. This day calls to be a familiar one with new quirks, new comforts, new adventures every day. This day calls for a blissful resting Sunday, your answers when you had asked yourself how you felt, how happy were you, if your life has made you very happy as well as content. Today, TV and movies with Kaze, Shiro and Tak was released with spoiler warnings. While in her room, listening to Mahler 5, with her birthday, remembering her thoughts about her past, feelings and experience to a million questions that were in her mind and a film that haunts the room: Batgirl. I said that I was going to do an article about her more than episode; Batgirl, like we talked about last Sunday, about her walk through her life, because unlike Kaze and Shiro, people may not know what happens to her in her life. She goes through that same thing we went through with them. The Batsuit. The Batsuit is her family, a symbol of strength, it defines her, it gives her power, helps her more than being a gadget to vent frustration, it helps her fight for the ones she loves, it protects her own self and besides that her body after worn out she can't walk. The Batsuit is a well defined part of her character, her strength, her passion

Have you always wished that you could sneak around and break into places as an RPG? Have you dreamt of wearing cool armor and leveling up your stats? Have you ever wanted a group of friends to be with you in your battles? This game is for you. It's a mix between Assassin's Creed and Diablo. You play as a sneaky thief, sneaking into places where you can smash peoples' faces in. You can become a party of thieves you can share experience, gear, and loot. You can raise your levels and stat points. Then, once you are at high enough level and unlocked an important skill, you gain access to those powers that are reserved only for that class. You can turn into a flying angel, a giant tree, or a galloping monster. And you can summon them to help you fight and break into new places in the broken city of Sinners. This game is designed with a lot of self-reflection, and expansion of the universe. Throughout the game, as you upgrade your character, he will be studying and trying to learn more about the world and its secrets. Interlocked Puzzles are my newest project, and I thought I would share it on my blog. They are logic puzzles where you need to move blocks around to form a new shape. The puzzles can be difficult, so I will list out all the puzzle pieces for you here. These puzzles were created using mostly 3D software, but I also use Inkscape to create the illustrations. The puzzles are all given as a PSD Illustrator file so you can build them into your own project if you like. These puzzles were made in Adobe Photoshop.
