What's new:

BE THE FIRST. Do what you love. Live where you want to. Come to GOG and work on the game you have always wanted to make. Our devlogs are a glimpse of the life the dev team lives and we want to share it with you! In this devblog we focus on what comes next for Penumbra and our daily development lives. We want to make sure you have everything that you need to know about us by progressing through our development process, right from concept to release. Stay tuned and be the first to know what's coming next!

Taking on New Challenges
Crazed Asylum Vol. 1: This first devlog also demonstrates our new structure. We are still a team of 15 people, in Berlin (North Rhine-Westphalia, Germany) but are now split into two teams, with each team having 3 programmers and one writer. This change means that we have more time to focus on individual tasks, while still maintaining a tight structure that keeps us working as a team. This also allows us to focus on our long term project goals rather than short term tasks.

The Projects of the Month
They return for 2018, bringing quality to our games and their interfaces. Land of Heroes is a browser-based game where you control heroes from the point of view of the people around them. Defeat monsters for fame as you progress into the story. A classic theme for the idea of clicking on a cast of heroes, interacting with them and developing your own unique creature. The 2016 Developer of the Month is Mir (Miritsa Peldanova).

2015 Developer of the Month is Rain Borde, a writer/concept artist/game master. You can find his art, tutorials, and projects at itch.io and Paper Mario
