Introduces HyperMotion
Technology for 1,000 FIFA Points*
FIFA 22 introduces “HyperMotion Technology,” which uses motion capture data collected from 22 real-life players playing a complete, high-intensity football match in motion capture suits.
The data collected from player movements, tackles, aerial duels and on-ball actions is used to power FIFA 22 gameplay. If you have an Xbox One and some space on your hard drive, welcome to The Xbox One FIFA Ultimate Team Free Play Weekend which will run for the next two weeks (through Jan. 14). HERE'S HOW IT WORKS • EA has posted a series of playlists of matches from the past three days on the Xbox Live website that you can access by using the “Xbox LIVE Free Play” feature on the Xbox One. The FIFA 22-specific playlists start today and will run until Jan. 14. You can also get access to a broad range of older Ultimate Team games from the FIFA series. • All games will let you play 20 minutes at a time and move to the next matches once you've completed 20 minutes of gameplay. You can also pause games in progress. • You get: 1,000 FIFA Points* for each 20-minute free play session you complete (subject to the usual FIFA Points/bonus code restrictions). You will be able to earn FIFA Points during your free play session. Free play is not subject to any bonus codes.

HERE'S WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW • All free play games will be populated by players who have been recently added to the Ultimate Team. If you don't see the player you want to add from the list, you will have the option to manually search for him or her. • You can play a game for at least 20 minutes at a time. • You will earn FIFA Points based on the number of minutes you play each game. • Unlike with other game trials, you will need to log into Xbox LIVE and have an active

Ultimate Team account to get the FIFA Points. • If you die while playing one of the trials, you won't lose your progress and you'll be able to move to the next trial. You'll also be
