Rufus. Posted: Monday, 17 July 2007, 00:56 By: Stephen Baker On my way to work each morning, I take the M25 past Greenham Common, somewhere between Runnymede and the Eurostar. Just before Greenham, I pass a grey house with 'Chicks 'n Coops' across the side. I stop at that house and listen to them talk about getting out of the house, working, and buying groceries and clothes. I listen to the children splashing in the pool, and thinking that's amazing - that they don't know the misery their parents are enduring, not only in getting up and doing all those jobs, but also living in poverty, and having all these extra things to do. As I drive past the house and onto the M25, I think that if I could get past that house and into the kitchen, I could save the children, and not have to listen to them. I could put up a notice saying 'enough! Enough of this misery! Come and work for me, and I'll give you a good pay, and give you a place to live, and maybe even have a baby for you. Go on, ask your parents if they'd like to give
