Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a display device and method for controlling the display device, and more particularly, to a display device capable of preventing a dead zone and a signal interference and method for controlling the display device. 2. Description of the Related Art Among the various display devices, an organic light emitting diode (OLED) display is a display device that electrically excites a fluorescent organic material and can emit light, with the organic light emitting diode display having better visibility as compared to other display devices. When a user views an image or a moving picture displayed on the display device, the display device usually reproduces the image or the moving picture in the middle of the periodic frame or in the middle of the one frame. That is, the display device usually displays a predetermined image or moving picture on the screen of the display device in a certain period. However, some displays may not be synchronized with the frame period, and may not reproduce an image displayed in the middle of the frame at a predetermined time, or may not display an image at a predetermined time regardless of the predetermined image, so that the images may not be displayed in the predetermined time. This makes the images not appear well on e79caf774b
