Daniel Alfredsson never turned down a call-up from the Ottawa Senators, and now it's official. The legendary centreman, who retires Saturday, has been named an alternate captain in addition to being named a finalist for the Bill Masterton Trophy. Alfredsson led the Senators to the playoffs last season, the fifth time in six years he's led a team to the post-season. He was also a key contributor on Canada's gold-medal winning team at the 2014 Sochi Winter Olympics. He said it's important to be able to step in and provide leadership in the toughest situations. "I think you need to be around the right people and you need to be a leader," Alfredsson told CBC Sports' On the House on Thursday. "I don't think you can be a leader if you're not in the right atmosphere or the right situation. "When you're in that situation, you don't worry about who's around you; you just worry about the outcome. So there's a lot of pressure on your shoulders and that's when you step in and you make the difference." Alfredsson won the 6d1f23a050
